WE NOMINATE

Eugene Paul Wigner, regarded by many of his fellow scientists "as the most brilliant mind in United States physics today" and recently described as a "walking source of embarrassment to the members of the Nobel Prize Committee," who returns to TOWN TOPICS' cover in recognition of his continuing contributions in the broad reaches of theoretical physics. On the threshold of his 59th birthday (this Friday, November 17), the soft-spoken Wigner, with a marked capacity for projecting "quotable quotes" and with a passion for anonymity, is one of the moulders of this country's present strength—both in physics and in nuclear technology.

In recent years Wigner, Budapest-born and Berlin-trained, has made a habit of carrying off honors for significant achievements. Just a month ago in Vienna he was singled out as the recipient of the 1961 Max Planck Medal of the German Physical Society, an award honoring the scientist credited with the development of the quantum theory. In 1960 it was The Ford Foundation's Atoms for Peace Award and two years earlier the Atomic Energy Commission's Enrico Fermi Award, a prize recommended by AEC's General Advisory Committee, approved by the President of the United States, and consisting of a medal, a citation and a grant of $50,000.

Wigner, whose contributions to modern physics range from the loftiest heights of theory to design calculations for giant atomic piles, was one of the handful of scientists who actually witnessed the so-called "birth of the atomic age" in the now famous squash court beneath the west stand of the University of Chicago's Stagg Field. It was there, amid World War II's greatest security conditions, that the first atomic fire on earth was lighted at precisely 3:25 p.m., Central Standard Time, on December 2, 1942. Minutes later, as a softly clicking machine began to buzz, the late Enrico Fermi quietly announced: "The reaction is self-sustaining."

A decade later, in talking here in Palmer Laboratory with a New York reporter, Wigner came forward with the statement that aptly suggested the role the scientist plays in today's world. "Before the war," Wigner commented, "I was an obscure professor who taught classes and wrote articles. I never thought a reporter would come from New York to talk to me. But now? I no longer can talk nonsense and have it go unnoticed; it could cause some serious consequences. For better or worse, people pay attention to what I say. It is a very heavy responsibility."

A naturalized citizen and a full-time Princetonian almost continuously since coming to the United States in 1930, Wigner in 1938 was designated Thomas D. Jones Professor of Mathematical Physics, one of the University's most distinguished professorships and a post reserved for a "creative scientist of high distinction." Some years after World War II, during which he designed the reactors that first produced atomic power on a large scale for peaceful purposes, he wistfully recalled the soul-searching he and his associates had experienced before and after the development of the A-Bomb: "If we hadn't invented the bomb, another nation would have. We believed that in our hands it would force an effective United Nations—a way to permanent world peace."

For his forthright approach to matters of urgency, including his recently stated stand in favor of fall-out shelters as "a kind of insurance"; for his vast understanding of the relationships linking science and human values; for his unique competence as a research scientist and teacher; he is our nominee for

WHAT ABOUT THE WATER?

Smell, Taste, Uproar. It started about 4:30 p.m. last Wednesday. By Thursday, it was a deluge. By Friday, it was an uproar. By the weekend, it was the chief conversation subject for people who met on shopping expeditions, at cocktail parties, at church and over the back fence.

It was, of course, the smell and the taste of the water that came out of Princeton faucets from late Wednesday through Sunday. It began to clear up on Sunday, and by Monday there were only traces of something that smelled like shellac, kerosene, floor wax or chlorine, depending on whom you talked to.

The Princeton Water Company and the three separate chemical laboratories that tested for the company still do not know precisely what caused the trouble, but it was almost certainly not gasoline.

A. J. Lanning and Company of Trenton, consultants for the company, a second private engineering firm and the State Board of Health all ran tests on water samples. Tuesday morning, they submitted their findings to the company. All of them ruled out, to all intents and purposes, the possibility of gasoline—the chief villain in the rumors that ran around Princeton over the weekend.

Investigators for the company suspected leakage from gas stations on Route One, but in the words of Mr. Lanning, "We can't pin it on gasoline." "We are not ready to say that it is gasoline" said the State Health Department chemist.

However, as late as Tuesday, tests were still being run at a gasoline station on Route One. The State Health official believes, incidentally, that it is something besides gasoline, but he is not prepared to say what the guilty chemical is.

One difficulty in testing comes from the very nature of gasoline. If oil were in the water, it could be spotted immediately. Gasoline is not only volatile, but hard to identify positively without time-consuming tests, and sometimes impossible to pin down even after the tests have been run, according to Walter B. Jefferson, treasurer of the company.

What's the Matter? The first indication of trouble came with two phone calls at 4:30 Wednesday. When the phone calls began flowing in early Thursday, Mr. Jefferson called in Mr. Lanning. They suspected the chlorinator, which gave the company some trouble last December. (It was in this early stage that municipal boards of health were advised to tell people who called that it was an excess of chlorine.)

But the chlorinator was functioning perfectly. Meanwhile, as the calls came in, a pattern began to flow. The first queries came from the housing project on Harrison Street. Then they began to come from Sycamore and Southern Way. Then from Prospect, Patton and Nassau Street. Then from Hamilton, Hawthorne, Franklin and Valley—always in a northward moving pattern that remained in the eastern section of town.

Never was there any appreciable trouble west of Palmer Square, according to Mr. Jefferson. Four or five homes in the western section, most of them around Mountain, Wilson and Westerly, reported to the company, but they were the only ones.

As Friday wore on, the taste and smell became sharper and stronger. Chemists came from all over the state. The State Board of Health investigator came Friday and another came on Saturday. (He and Mr. Jefferson devoted all Saturday night and early Sunday morning to the vexing problem.)

Hydrants Turned On. In an effort to flush the sytem pure, the company turned on hydrants at full force all over the east side of town on Thursday noon and left them on until Saturday at 7 p.m. The million-gallon underground reservoir at Harrison Street was drained completely. (Water tower pipes were shut off so that there would be a water supply in case of fire.)

Water company men tested each hydrant by taste and smell. They took samples to Harrison Street and made heat tests trying to steam out the intruder and identify it that way. They added chlorine to samples to bring out the smell more sharply.

"The maddening thing was that there was never any trace of smell or taste in the water samples we took at the Harrison Street station," Mr. Jefferson commented. "It was after the water got into the mains that it gave trouble."

There was no broken main, and Mr Jefferson discounted the possibility of a leak into the mains. The pressure maintained by the water is so great that no outside agent could force its way in, Mr. Jefferson says. A powerful steam boiler might produce enough pressure, and Water Company men did confer with the University about new boilers and new construction work, but the problem did not lie in that area.

Finally, on Saturday night, it narrowed down to the Harrison Street field, and Mr. Jefferson ordered two of the five wells there shut down. From that time on, stench and taste began to dissipate and by Sunday, the water was almost entirely clear. Engineers traced the trouble further to one well of the two, and at present that is the only well out of use at Harrison Street. The Stony Brook station was never considered a problem.

"We expect it to break out now and then," Mr. Jefferson says. "We still haven't stopped looking for the cause of the trouble."

While the water was undrinkable, Princeton residents solved the problem in various ways. The Hospital melted down ice-cubes and used bottled water. Some people presented themselves at the homes of friends in the country and brought back bottles of well water. One family, long resident in Philadelphia, where the water is notoriously rich, merely shrugged and said, "It's just like it used to be before we moved here."

Criticism of the Princeton Water Company for its handling of the pollution was voiced at Monday's meeting of Princeton Borough Council by Mayor Raymond F. Male.

"The Borough was not well served by its private water company," the mayor said. "This reaffirms my position that the water supply should be publicly-owned. Water is a public responsibility. We've got to be ready to make tests as soon as problems arise, and we need an iron-clad method for notifying citizens of any possible danger."

The mayor announced that Borough and Township officials would meet this Thursday afternoon with representatives of the Princeton Water Company. The meeting will only be worthwhile, he said, if it produces "some real assurance that our water supply is getting real protection."

THE BULLDOGS ARE BACK

For Biennial Visit. Football is played every fall in Palmer Stadium, but the particular degree of appeal that belongs to the most traditional of all games on the Princeton schedule envelops this community only in alternate years. Yale's ever eager band of Bulldogs descends on the scene Saturday, its appearance promising to add to the long 188-year-old chain of contests many of whose dramatic moments are indelibly etched in the minds of true football fans.

The pre-World War I era is now legendary for all but a few of the 45,000 who will be in Palmer Stadium Saturday, but there will be many on hand who can recall the feats of Mel Dickenson, Charlie Caldwell, Ed MacMillan, Mike Miles and Jake Slagle, Princetonians of the Roper era in the 20's.

Ask any observer about the misty November afternoon more than three decades ago when a slightly-built halfback by the name of Trix Bennett slammed into the line of a heavily-favored Yale team needing only a scant two feet of Palmer Stadium mud to achieve a fabulous upset. He fell short by less than the length of the ball, but the effort put forth by the undermanned Tigers in absorbing a 10-7 loss that chill, cloudy day still ranks with the favorite Yale-Princeton stories.

The Fritz Crisler regime was launched with a 7-7 tie in 1932—a deadlock that remains as the only such outcome since the modern era began at the end of World War I. The stars included Art Lane, Ken Fairman, Jack Weller, Garry LeVan, Gil Lea, Ken Sandbach, and more.

It was highlighted by two standout victories in 1933 (27-2) and 1935 (38-7), but both were achieved in the sprawling confines of the Yale Bowl. In between was the 7-0 upset perpetrated on the wings of a Jerry Roscoe to Larry Kelley pass that Princetonians have never been able to erase from their memories.

Tad Wieman, a balding, soft-spoken line coach under Crisler, succeeded his erstwhile boss in 1937, and promptly succeeded in a way that the Chicago dynamo had never managed: from 1938 through 1941, Wieman piloted the Tigers to an unprecedented four straight victories over the Blue. The names? Tom Mountain, Bud Rose, Dave Allerdice, Bob Jackson, Bob Peters, and more.

Caldwell Comes Home. War's end was marked by the return of an old warhorse to his home grounds, as Charlie Caldwell came back to launch the brightest era in Princeton football history. Fascinatingly, the man who went into the record books as the master of the single wing coached one season of T football here in 1945—before turning to the attack that made him famous.

A scintillating 17-0 upset of a favored Eli eleven in 1947 forged the first link in a chain that was to grow to six straight victories over Yale—and six straight Big Three titles. This was the era that begin with Ernie Ransome, Jack Weber and George Sella, and blossomed into the sheerly picturesque football executed by Jack Davison, Dave Hickok, Hollie Donan, Billy Kleinsasser, George Chandler, Frank McPhee and of course, a brilliant tailback named Kazmaier.

Person To Person

Cory T. Kammler

The other day we heard that the weather forecasts in each year's Farmers' Almanac are actually written or compiled 30 months before each current Almanac goes to press.

It is said that the secret formula by which these long range forecasts are made, is so secret, that not even the employees or editor of the Farmers' Almanac know how it is done.

The only clue to the system is in the 30 month time lapse, which obviously could have been half that time, since the Almanac comes out every twelve months, if half as much time would have been desirable. This suggests that not only meteorlogical data is a factor, but also the history of weather, maybe going back over many years, but never using the too recent weather records. Perhaps, as in the writing of history, a distant perspective is a requirement.

From our point of view, the only thing on which it is fairly safe to base a forecast of coming events, is experience, and the reputation which individual experience has created.

We know that when we sell a car and when we service one, we can either add to or take away from our reputation, and it is our all-out goal so to serve you, that we always add to it.

IF A BOMB FALLS . . .

Audience Learns Effects. Approximately 200 Princeton residents crowded into the social room of the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday night for a discussion, "Should You Build a Shelter?" and learned in the course of the evening, the effects that a 20-megaton bomb explosion in New York would have on Princeton.

The meeting was sponsored by the Princeton chapters of SANE, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, the Fellowship of Reconciliation and Princeton Theological Seminary.

Dr. Jules Hirsch, physician on the staff of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and a member of the Scientists Committee for Radiation Information, described in clinical detail the somatic and genetic effects of radiation on the human body. He also outlined the physical reactions involved in a nuclear explosion.

He then postulated the ground-level explosion of a 20-megaton bomb in Columbus Circle in New York with its fireball four miles in diameter, and its succeeding perimeters of blast, heat and firestorm.

He said that such an explosion would probably cause retinal burns for Princeton residents who saw it, because the fireball is many times brighter than the sun at noon on a clear day. Windows in Princeton would undoubtedly be shattered, Dr. Hirsch said, and the town would be on the periphery of the zone of potential firestorm.

He pointed out that unpredictable meteorological situations could alter this picture, but that a dry season and "plenty of kindling" could bring Princeton into the firestorm area. If that were the case, he said, the only safety would lie in escape. "High-tail it out of here," he said, pointing out that earthenware shelters of cinder-blocks would be no protection against the 1400-Fahrenheit of a firestorm area.

Continuing his description of the Princeon area, he said that shortly after the New York explosion and for days thereafter, there would be radiation and that it would be a lethal dose for anyone remaining outside all the time. He said that during this period, even a moderate shelter from the outdoors would reduce the effects of the radiation.

MORE PARKING PLANNED

For Nassau East Lot. An ordinance which would increase the area of the Nassau East parking project was passed on first reading by Borough Council at its meeting Monday night. The measure will come up for public hearing Tuesday, December 12, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

The ordinance, which carries with it an appropriation of approximately $40,000, would add the property at 21 Park Place to the proposed parking area bounded by Moore, Vandeventer and Nassau Streets and Park Place. It would also correct boundary lines to conform with title searches.

Mayor Raymond F. Male said that the additional land would push the number of available parking spaces up to 200. Of these, about 180 will be public spaces and 20 will be private.

In other action, Borough Council approved the appointments of Miss Esther Dillworth as a member of the Housing Authority, replacing Mrs. Gloria Michael, and of Dr. Rudolf A. Clemen as chairman of the Princeton Committee for the 1964 New Jersey Tercentenary. The Tercentenary Mobile Exhibit is due to arrive in Princeton in a few weeks.

Named Juvenile Officer. Council also approved the appointment of Sgt. James M. Kopliner as juvenile officer of the Borough, effective November 15, and the promotion of Chancemen Donald B. Forward and John J. Bellow, Jr., to the rank of patrolmen.

The appointment of William A. Hunter Jr. as a chanceman in the Borough Police Depart-

"BUT DID YOU REALLY LIKE THE WAY IT ENDED?" Young readers will discuss the flesh and bones of children's books at a book panel to be held at the First Presbyterian Church this Thursday at 3:30 in observation of Children's Book Week. All children, grades 4 through 8, are invited to attend, and to listen to other children ask questions of a group of authors. The student panel will consist of, left to right, Frazer Lively, Witherspoon School; Alexandra Holt, Miss Fine's; Rusty O'Brien, Valley Road and Doris Sigl, St. Paul's. Harold Henry, Princeton Country Day, was absent when the picture was taken. (Ulli Seltzer Photo)

Suitably enough for Yale-Princeton gridiron drama, the string of unequalled Tiger triumphs (47-12 in 1950 was the high-water mark) came crashing to earth in the Stadium as the underdog Bulldogs erased half the field with two passes completed while the clock showed less than a minute to play. It was 1953, and a 26-24 final.

Twelve months later, a Princeton back whose name was not even in the program scored three touchdowns in the Bowl to give Princeton a totally-unexpected 21-14 victory. Because Royce Flippin had broken his wrist earlier, Yale's sports publicity director was convinced he would not play. Flippin wrote history as he proved him wrong.

The rivalry has seesawed in its most recent years, Princeton winning by 50 to 14 three seasons ago at New Haven before the Blue rolled to a 38-20 triumph in its last Stadium appearance and a 43-22 victory last fall. It has, incidentally, been six long years since Princetonians have seen the Bulldogs beaten here.

On Saturday, a new generation wearing Orange and Black will take its place in the parade that grows longer with each passing season. On the slim shoulders of a 20-year old sophomore from Marion, O., will rest much of the hopes for Princeton's success. Pete Poreitis, tailback, will seek to put wheels under an oft-injured Princeton Tiger, and to move toward a place in history with Dan Terpack, John Henrich, Roger Hoit, Tim Callard, Ed Welhenmayer, Henry Large . . . and more.

WE DANES—AND YOU

NIGHT FALLS ON DENMARK

The Mode of Spending the Evening in Denmark, indoors and out.

HOW DOES ONE PASS one's evening in Denmark?

You stay at home or you go out. In the country there are fields and parks or gardens for those whose fancy lives in an eternal spring. In town you can go down to the harbour and look at the ships and such like; you can go to the railway station to see who is arriving or departing, you can walk in the municipal park and listen to the music; you can visit the theatre or the cinema. In short, you behave as in all other towns in all other countries.

But there is one difference. From the middle of May until well into August, if you go out, it is into nights which hardly get dark. Light nights can have a dangerous effect on sensitive persons of both sexes.

In Copenhagen and the other large towns you can go to the theatre. If you understand Danish, you have a most enjoyable time. If you don't—well, there are always more visual shows or you will easily find a place to dance, eat Smorrebrod, and drink Danish Snaps, until it dawns on you either a) that you have drunk too much of the stuff, or b) that it is stronger than you thought. In practice it hardly matters whether you decide on a) or b) or both.

In Copenhagen you can go to the Royal Theatre for an opera or ballet or a classical play with which you are already familiar so that you can forgive the Danes for speaking Danish on their stage. But if you are in raptures about the summer, then there's Tivoli, which the Danes claim to be unique in Europe, doubtless because it is unique in Europe. Or you can go to Dyrehavsbakken with its merry-go-rounds and roller-coasters, spend a pleasant evening at a seaside hotel, or wander up to the Hermitage Lodge in the middle of the night in pursuit of a romantic feeling.

There is absolutely no reason for claiming that Denmark is more beautiful than any other country on a summer's evening; but the Danes say it is undoubtedly true, and the curious thing is that occasionally they convince foreigners of it too. An American once said that Miami and Waikiki were dreary compared with a summer's evening at Klampenborg, the Skaw, or Fano. Probably he had good grounds for this contention, but they are not on record.

Blue Skies?

Raindrops falling
Down from heaven,
Will you fall
On Yale's eleven?
—SHIRLEY WILT

Some 45,000 followers of football will be mighty sad Saturday if the skies start to drip. Princeton already has had two muddy outings this fall, and the BIG game is no time to repeat.

The Man preferred to remain silent as to the exact prediction, but was pressed for his thoughts. "Could rain Friday," he intoned, "maybe not before Friday night. Should clear well before game-time, however." Temperatures in the 50's.

Rain finally came to Princeton this week, precipitation Sunday and Tuesday producing well over an inch, more than has fallen in a 48-hour period in many weeks . . . a low of 22 was recorded Friday, with Sunday's low of 26 being replaced by a pleasant high of 66 before sundown.

Ever see a really big pumpkin? One of the heftiest ever produced in the Garden State will be on view Sunday between 7.30 and 8 p.m., Channel 13, when Governor Meyner makes a pre-Thanksgiving "Report to the People" . . . the pumpkin is big enough so that it weighs 183 3/4 pounds and is nearly eight feet in diameter.

Mrs. Virginia King, owner of the Mayme Mead dress shop at 188 Nassau Street, reported to Borough police the theft of seven dresses worth a total of $515 . . . there was no sign of forced entry.

Lose any money? A patient of Dr. Charles H. Place, sitting in the Medical Arts Building, saw a teen-age boy hide a paper bag in some shrubbery . . . investigation revealed a "sum of money," with Borough police ready to give it to owner . . . who must identify it by proper amount, not just color.

Serviceman's note home from Korea "last night for supper we had windmill pudding . . . you got some if it went around."

AFS Candidates Named

Seven students have been selected by the Princeton committee of the American Field Service and school officials as candidates for AFS international scholarships. Winners will spend the summer living with a family in a foreign country.

Candidates are Holly Hanford, Nancy McHenry, Lynette Palmer and Belle Vreeland, all of Princeton High School. Three candidates have been chosen from Miss Fine's School. They are Gretchen Southard of Princeton, Bonnie Grad of Trenton and Anne Updike of Lawrenceville.

The candidates will submit application to the New York office of the AFS. Final selection will be made by AFS officials in New York. Paula Cook of Miss Fine's School won an international scholarship last year and spent the summer in Japan.

News Of The THEATRES

THREE PLAYS GIVEN

By Thornton Wilder. For the final offering of the fall drama season, the McCarter company presents a trio of short plays by Thornton Wilder: "Pullman Car 'Hiawatha,'" "The Happy Journey to Camden and Trenton" and "The Long Christmas Dinner."

As many short plays by famous playwrights tend to be, these are experimental curios. "Hiawatha," for example, has never before been given professionally so far as anyone knows. "Camden and Trenton" and "Christmas Dinner" were given initially by the Vassar and Yale drama groups in 1931 and have been used chiefly as vehicles for college and community drama groups. ("Camden" was staged in Princeton by the Princeton Community Players in 1944.)

As experiments, therfore, and as perfectly good bits of short theatre in addition, these are interesting little plays to watch. Members of the McCarter company, doubling or tripling in various roles, seem to enjoy the variety offered by three plays wrapped up in one evening.

In "Camden and Trenton," Mr. Wilder gives us a pleasant middle-class family of four on the road from Newark to Camden in their—well, it's probably a Model-T. Ramon Bieri, earnest about his responsibilities as head of the family, drives his wife, Anne Sheldon, plain and warm as a cooky, and their two children, Tom Slater and Nancy Grey, to visit the married daughter, Beulah, who has been sick in Camden. There is a touching family reunion and the mother's presence brings peace to the sick, unhappy daughter.

IN THAT PULLMAN CAR: Haig Choganian tries to restrain Gretchen Kanne in a scene from "Pullman Car 'Hiawatha,'" one of the three one-act Thornton Wilder plays now in repertory at McCarter Theatre. In the "Hiawatha" play, Mr. Choganian plays an asylum keeper and Miss Kanne portrays an insane woman.

Deft little touches, have been applied throughout. The four travellers, facing the audience from seats in the make belive car, jog in awesome unison to the joggings of the car. They admire billboards. They eat a hot-dog. They are America on the road.

In "The Long Christmas Dinner," a dining table laid for the holiday feast, provides the focus for a 90-year diorama of the Bayard family. In the course of the play, marriages are begun, children are born, old people die, all with only a breath's pause in dialogue.

It is fun to watch, and it must be great to act, since one must age right before the audience without makeup and with only gesture and voice to indicate the passage of time. It is another of Wilder's experiments with time, extending it, telescoping it, molding it and, in this case, letting it comment on itself.

The play is entertaining as a tour de force, but Wilder has chosen to write about some pretty dull people (or is he saying, "Aren't we all?) and because of these pedestrian personalities, the little play lacks the drive it might have had otherwise.

Gretchen Kanne, Anne Gee, Jack Dodson, Al Corbin, Jon Cypher, Betty Fussell and Jane McArthur move in the stream of time with skill.

Of the three plays, "Hiawatha" has the most texture, the most interest as a bench mark in Wilder's career and the most bewildering collection of ideas and concepts. All three plays are fascinating, of course, because they contain so much of the Wilder that was due to come along any year now, but "Hiawatha" is particularly notable as an incubator. Within it, audiences can find "The Bridge of St. Luis Rey," "Our Town," "The Skin of Our Teeth" and some others that were, mercifully, drowned before they came to life.

Wilder presents for our consideration 10 people travelling in a Pullman car. We see into their minds and learn their thoughts. One of them dies. One is insane. Others are insecure in various ways or callous to suffering. (But here again, Wilder's people aren't very interesting, really they aren't.)

We also have in the east, the Archangels Gabriel and Michael, 10, 11 and 12 o'clock, three planets and two towns. (Anne Shelton plays Parkersburg, Ohio, with splendid verve.) Various characters have their pet mottoes and there are times when everybody chants mottoes at once, and that's probably what we mean when we say the play has "texture." We suggest you see for yourself.

Richard Dysart, who has been a fine stage manager for "Our Town," performs the same function in each of these three plays.

In the Upstairs Gallery at McCarter, Donneson exhibits some of his abstract circle paintings. He is exhibiting in Princeton through the courtesy of the Pietrantonio Gallery, New York.

to a close ("Our Town" will be played for the last time this Saturday and the three Wilder one-acters this Friday), the house-lights will not go down permanently.

This Saturday, the McCarter Guild will hold a conference of club members, staff members from community theatres and drama groups from all over the state. The occasion is the State Wide Conference on the Performing Arts. Clinics, workshops and discussions on various aspects of the theatre will be followed by tea and a tour backstage. Dinner and the final performance of "Our Town" will bring the day to a close.

Those who wish to attend the conference are asked to call WA 1-8700 as soon as possible to make reservations.

Over the Thanksgiving weekend, Lionel Shepard, pantomime artist, and "Sykes," his partner, will present a program of dance and mime fables with accompaniment by Jimmy Gavin, the folk guitarist. The program has been especially planned with children in mind, but the McCarter staff believes it will be enjoyed by all ages. It will be given the Friday after Thanksgiving at 3:30.

The Sunday after Thanksgiving, McCarter will present "From a Civil War Notebook," a program of readings, and on December 3, a return of the popular improvisation program, "From the Second City." A Guild panel on the dance will be offered December 4 and a Midnight Hoedown with Pete Seeger on December 8.

AUNTY'S COMING

"Charley" at Intime. For its first major production of the 1961-1962 season, Theatre Intime will offer Brendan Thomas' farce, "Charley's Aunt," directed by Ralph Esmerian, Intime president.

Performances will be given this Thursday, Friday, Saturday and next Monday, Tuesday, Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Murray Theatre. Tickets are $1.25 and reservations may be made by calling WA 1-6600, extension 2010.

PERIWIG PLAYS

In "Ten Little Indians." Agatha Christie's famous mystery play, "Ten Little Indians," will be given this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall, Lawrenceville School, by members of the school's Periwig Club. Admission is free.

Peter Candler is the faculty director of the play and Phil DeGuere, veteran Periwig actor, will play the leading role. Other performers are Peter Mellon, David Sexton, Adrian Humphreys, Charles Dragonette and William Spraekling. Gordon Lutz of Princeton is co-costume director and John Tassie of Princeton is on the stage manager's staff.

The comedy takes place in a house off the Devon coast and the protagonists find that they share their fate with the legendary Ten Little Indians who vanished, one by one.

MATHIS GOOD FOR TWO

Two Shows Planned. When Johnny Mathis comes to Dillon Gym Saturday night, he will play an unprecedented (unprecedented for C-K, that is) two shows, one at 8 and the second at 11. According to C-K Productions, sponsor of the Mathis appearance, both shows look like sell-outs. If this is the case, extra sections will be put up in the gym, C-K has announced.

Accompanying Mathis will be Jimmy Cook and his orchestra, billed as the largest band yet to be in concert in Princeton. For this evening, the musical conductor will be Allyn Ferguson.

Mathis' style is a smooth one, drifting easily into a lightly swinging jazz style. He has had highly successful record sales, both in singles and long-playing albums.

Tryouts!

Tryouts for a McCarter Guild production of "Dark of the Moon" will be held at the theatre Sunday and Monday, November 26 and 27, and Wednesday, November 29, from 8 to 10 p.m. The production will go into rehearsal December 27 and will run three consecutive weekends, January 19 and 20, January 26 and 27 and February 1 and 2.

The play is a legend about about a witch boy, and according to Brooks Jones, the director, there are parts "for practically every sort imaginable" in the cast of 24. Students, untried amateurs and semi-pros are invited to try out. The play will be underscored by music for banjo, guitar and voice.

Tickets, at the Princeton University Store, are $2.90 and $3.40 for reserved seats and $1.90 and $2.50 for general admission.

"DIE BRUECKE" HIER

Next Tuesday. "Die Letzte Bruecke," (The Last Bridge), prize-winning German film, will be shown Tuesday in McCarter Theatre at 8:30. The film won the International Critics Prize at the Cannes Film Festival, 1954.

The production features Maria Schell. It will be presented in its original German version, with English sub-titles, under the sponsorship of the German Club of Princeton.

"GHOSTS" COMING

With Leueen MacGrath. The off-Broadway production of Ibsen's "Ghosts" will come to McCarter Theatre for a one-night stand on Monday, December 11, at 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be reserved by calling the theatre at WA 1-8700.

In this David Ross production, Leueen MacGrath stars as the widow Mrs. Alving who tries to hide a disturbing past from her son. Supporting Miss MacGrath will be the New York company including Sheppard Strudwick, Carrie Nye, John McQuade and Joseph Marino. Miss McGrath was introduced to America in "The Enchanted." Later, she portrayed Casandra in "Tiger at the Gates" and since then has appeared in many Broadway, Hollywood and television productions.

David Ross, the director, began his present Ibsen cycle with "Hedda Gabler" which opened in November of last year. "Ghosts" will continue its New York run after the McCarter performance.

FOAM ON TOP

Quality on a Budget. There are two aspects of shopping that have practical and physical appeal. One is the prospect of getting a "good buy," the other is the possibility of shopping while you sit in somebody else's livingroom comfortably collapsed in the very sofa you are about to buy.

Both are available, in a wide range of colors, through the Princeton agent of the New Brunswick shop called Foamarama. Through this agent, (the channels of communication will be discussed later) you choose your furniture and the fabric you want. She places the order. Three weeks later your free delivery comes to the door and your are furnished with budget-priced, fine quality modern pieces. All yours.

You may examine, in the agent's living room, a pair of Danish-style sofas, two armchairs, a slat-top bench-table and a fairy-tale walnut dining-table and chairs. We'll begin with the sofa, since that's probably where you will be sitting while you make your choice. The single sofa is $69.95, a frame of walnut with a wide walnut back to support two foam bolsters, a four-inch slab of foam for the seat and strong, resilient springs to support the foam.

From there, you play a variation on the theme. Buy a matching walnut frame to go along the end of a sofa instead of along its back. Fasten it to a second sofa and arrange the pair of couches in an L. The long side is a couch, the short side is rather like a chaise. Or, keep the L arrangement for the two sofas, and buy a three-quarter bolster to go along the back of the second piece. Or, buy a cane-panelled arm. Or, two. Or a somewhat more severe arm with square spindles.

Fasten a carving walnut bow across the sofa front if modern is too austere for you. Take a second bow and you have a graceful bracket with two openwork spaces.

Prices start with that $69.95 for a single sofa with two bolsters. (Couch is 30 by 74 inches, by the way). For $129, you can have the L with two couches and three bolsters. Then, you can go to $163 with seating all around the L, filler arms and filler bolsters. The five-foot bolster that doesn't go quite to the end, wood bring the 2-couch unit to $149.95.

The advantage to all this is flexibility, of course. When you move, you shift the two couches around to different angles and make as comfortable a room as you had before.

(Instead of foam, the couches have polyethelene seats, which means that the slab is reversible. Foam isn't. Whether Foamarama becomes, thereby, Polyetherama, we leave to you.)

There are two chairs, an arm chair with square foam seats and back for $29.95 and a high-back vinyl chair in the Scandinavian manner. We saw it in a splendid black with a dull gloss like leather. You may prefer white, turquoise or tangerine. (For $99.50, you may have one sofa, the first chair and a slat-top bench table. Why wait?)

The walnut table we spoke of earlier is a solid piece which we called fairy-tale simply because it's like those magic houses that are minute on the outside and palatial on the inside. The table is nine inches deep, set unobtrusively against the wall. Open, and its seats four, open more and it seats six, keep going and it seats 12. It's 110 inches long, full-length. $79.95 alone, $129 with four rope-seat ladder-back chairs.

To arrange for a visit to the agent's house, call her at WA 1-2964 for an appointment. Zoning laws keep us from giving you her name or address, but she lives in the heart of town, so don't fill up the gas tank.

HOLIDAY!

Let's Decorate. If you begin to move now, you can redecorate for Christmas. (You can even redecorate for Thanksgiving, if you buy that Lucite paint.) Morris Maple, the paint, paper and paste shop at 200 Nassau, has an assortment of wallpaper books so vast that the browsing housewife may find herself in a psychosis of indecision before she's done. But what a lovely way to go mad!

Thibaut just sent in a Fabritate book, displaying in all their seductive patterns a collection of textured vinyl papers for any room in the house. They are waterproof and greaseproof and variously textured, some with a quilted feel, others rough like straw and so on. We liked a bright turquoise brush stroke basket-weave on white, with casual nursery figures in turquoise on a matching paper. (Pink, bright

Brush Up

Sometimes you see a commercial on television or read an ad in a magazine and, obeying the injunction to "rush right down to your nearest . . .," you try to buy the product only to find that the dealer doesn't have it yet.

In this case, such is not the case. We refer to DuPont's Lucite Wall Paint which has been preening its dripless, runless and spatterless beauties all over TV for some time now. You can buy it in town at Morris Maple's Paint Store, 200 Nassau, and after you've bought it, you can go home and put on earrings and pearls and spiky heels and then paint the basement, just like the girls in the commercials.

The values in Lucite are, for those without TV, numerous. It is homogenized and requires no stirring or mixing. It does not dribble down the chin of your paintbrush onto your hand. It can be washed out of a brush with a turn under the faucet. It is selfpriming. It dries matte with a finish that hides small flaws. Ready?

MUSIC
In Princeton

LENOX QUARTET PLAYS In Series II. The second event in Series II of the Princeton University Concerts, on Monday evening at McCarter Theatre, featured the Lenox Quartet in works by Debussy, Elliott Carter and Mozart. In the latter's Clarinet Quintet, the assisting artist was Stanley Drucker, first clarinetist of the New York Philharmonic.

The Lenox Quartet are not new to Princeton audiences, although this was their first appearance in the University Concert Series. In the summer of 1959, they played three concerts during the Seminar in Advanced Musical Studies, giving an extensive survey of contemporary chamber music. Again the following summer, they assisted at the Seminar, and their performance of Elliot Carter's then new Second String Quartet was the highlight of the Seminar concert.

A year ago, at Friends of Music concert, they played works by Schoenberg, Haydn, and Schubert, this being their first local appearance in a non-contemporary repertoire. Now, with a new violist, they again presented a varied program: once again, the highlight of the evening was the performance of the Carter Second Quartet. This work—probably the first musical composition of distinction to win the Pulitzer Prize in Music in many years—is a major work by a major composer, and was so recognized by the McCarter audience on Monday night, once again proving that it is not necessary to play down to this audience; they will take, and like, difficult music, if it happens also to be good music.

Mr. Carter's First Quartet, which achieved considerable reknown several years ago, made extensive use of very complex metrical techniques with which he had been working in the Second Quartet; these techniques have receded into the background somewhat —more accurately, they have been assimilated into his general style. They are now the means by which the composer is able to write a piece in which each instrument is violently individualized, and yet part of a coherent whole. Unlike much complexity in new music, this is present for a specific expressive purpose, and thus entirely justified.

The Lenox Quartet play this work better now than they did when we last heard them; the rhythm is more accurate, and the overall dynamic of the piece is more forcefully presented. The new violist, Mr. Hersh, fits very well into the interpretation, and all the other players have gained considerably in matters of both individual and ensemble performance.

The evening's other highlight was the playing of Mr. Drucker, who is probably the best clarinetist in the world; he certainly plays the Mozart Clarinet Quintet better than anyone else. The tone was always impeccable, the breathing endless, but musically controlled, and the articulation of fast passages so even and precise as to be almost unbelievable.

Unfortunately, the playing of the strings, both here and in the Debussy Quartet, was not up to their own best standard (it should in fairness, be noted that a first performance in McCarter Theatre is no pleasure for any chamber group; the theatre's accoustical vagaries require time for acclimatization). Intonation, in particular, left a good deal to be desired, and a certain tense restlessness in the playing was not in character for either of these pieces.

It was, however, a satisfactory evening; programs of such solidly musical fare are always a pleasure, and this one was also adventurous in the best possible way.

YALE VS. PRINCETON In Music, Too. The Yale-Princeton Glee Club concert will be given this year in Alexander Hall at 8:30 p.m. Friday. The concert will include compositions by Bach, Hassler and Lotti, and a variety of folk and football songs and the Alma Maters of both universities.

An appearance with the Harvard Glee Club in Cambridge preceeded the Princeton club's appearance with Yale. Following the concert this Friday, the Princeton Glee Club will give joint concerts with singing groups from Smith, Mary Baldwin, Randolph Macon and Bryn Mawr.

During spring vacation, the club will visit Puerto Rico for the third successive year. Several recording sessions will bring the club's activities to a close in April and May.

For Friday night's program, the Yale group has chosen "Three Songs Blake" by the conductor of the Yale club, Fenno Heath; two compositions by Latin American composers, Villa-Lobos and Sanchez Malaga, and songs of Yale.

The Princeton club will sing sections from Offenbach's "Gaitie Parisenne" and various Princeton songs, and both groups will sing from the works of Bach, Hassler and Lotti.

GYPSY IS COMING Sabicas, the Guitarist. Flamenco, the haunting music of the Spanish gypsy, has achieved great popularity in recent years and one of its best-known exponents is Sabicas, the virtuoso Spanish gypsy guitarist, who will come to Princeton this Sunday at 3 as the first performer in the McCarter Sunday afternoon guitar series. Future artists will be Julian Bream and Richard Dyer-Bennet.

Sabicas gave his first solo flamenco recital in Town Hall in May, 1959. Reviewing the event for the New York "Herald Tribune," Jay Harrison wrote: "Sabicas and flamenco are almost synonymous. All that it is, he is; all that it needs, he is able to provide." He regards flamenco as a true art form, not to be altered or debased by populatization.

CLUB WILL MEET To Make Music. The Princeton Music Club will hold a meeting Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Sherley Morgan, 145 Hodge Road.

Marta Pacsu and Martha Sollenberger will be assistant hostesses. The performers will be Joseph Kovacs, violin; Dorothy Kovacs, flute; Thomas Tichner, piano; Daniel Schuman, viola; Kunrad Kvan, cello and Alfred Mann, contrabass.

A FAIR AFFAIR: John Gavin, as a married business executive, carries on an extra-marital love affair with Susan Hayward, a successful clothes designer, in the color production "Back Street" continuing at the Playhouse through Tuesday. Vera Miles co-stars in the adaptation of Fannie Hurst's novel.

most inferior re-make of Fannie Hurst's novel, and is cast in the same tear-flowing vein of "Imitation of Life," two years ago.

John Gavin immaturely plays the role of the business executive who carries on an illicit love affair with Susan Hayward. The part was previously acted by John Boles and Charles Boyer, which should give indication of the 1961 film's value. At the end, both Gavin and his wife, Vera Miles, die in an overemotional scene, filled with pathos, sadness and pure malarkey.

Aimed at women, Miss Hayward manages to display several beautiful gowns designed by Jean Louis during the course of the picture. At one point a Harper's Bazaar fashion show is inserted as an integral (?) part of the plot. In color. Rating: straight sob stuff.

out an outlaw band, the Comancheros, who work with Renegade Comanche Indians. He does. So much for the p lot.

As a steretoyped western, this technicolor, wide-screen production has just about everything: a duel, big-time gambling, a large-scale Indian fight, and the bar-room brawl without which a Wayne picture would not be possible. Each is handled well, and the elements of humor make the picture entertaining as well as action-packed.

John Wayne has played only two roles in his entire acting career: the heroic co-pilot of "The High and the Mighty" and John Wayne in all other films. He is a top box-office attraction because he is one of the few men who can actually seem to relish a punch on the jaw. In "The Comancheros," as in so many other pictures, it is a case of a star superseding a scrlpt. Rating: WAYNE and a western.

THE GARDEN

Frantic (November 12-18) is another "New Wave" film produced, directed and partially written by Louis Malle, who gave us "The Lovers" last year. This film, an involved murder mystery, was actually made several years ago and is obviously being released now only to cash in on the notoriety of "The Lovers."

The plot is about as involved as possible in 90 minutes. A man kills the husband of his mistress in a perfect crime, except that he gets trapped in an elevator and spends the rest of the picture trying to get out. Meanwhile two teenagers steal his car and kill two German tourists, thus sending the police after the first killer, but for the wrong crime.

Somehow, the story just doesn't come off. The involved plot doesn't help, and the characters are very unsympathetic. The camera work is sometimes unusual, however, and jazz fans may appreciate the score composed and conducted by Miles Davis. Rating: frantic, indeed.

The Man Who Wagged His Tail (November 19-25) features Peter Ustinov playing a mean slum landlord, and a sway-backed dog playing Peter Ustinov. The talented Britisher portrays a Brooklyn landlord who screams constantly at his tenants and generally makes their life miserable.

He also barks like a dog to scare beggars away, until one day a little old lady says, "May you bark till you find someone who loves you." Presto, Ustinov turns into a dog, and his life grows worse and worse until he finds a little boy who shows him some human kindness. Having learned humility, Ustinov is restored to humanity, although it is strange to note how dogs keep following him around.

Much of the humor of this Spanish-made film lies in the seeming resemblance between Ustinov and Caligola, his four-footed counterpart. The picture is at its best, however, when the brilliant Ustinov is on screen, proving that few actors, human or otherwise, can replace him. Rating: funny furry fable.

Protests Total Restraint

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It seems to me that a "total restraint" dog ordinance would be a very foolish move. A statute of this nature would be in complete opposition to the purpose of owning a dog.

When a person obtains a dog, he is usually motivated by a use, or purpose, which the dog is supposed to fill. The purpose may vary from the most common one of merely living with the owner and providing company and amusement, to more specialized jobs such as learning to hunt, or protecting the master and his property.

I think the majority of dogs in the Princeton area are used mainly to accompany the owner and members of his family, especially children, on casual trips and activities. But I do not think that many people buy a dog with the intent of chaining it up for the rest of its life. Not only is a pet in this condition useless, but, and this is perhaps more important, a chained animal is receiving a slow and cruel torture.

If those who advocate a "total restraint" dog ordinance would try to imagine being tied to a post with a circle roughly 20 feet in diameter in which to amuse themselves, they might see the narrow-mindedness of the idea.

ment, effective in December, was also approved. Mr Hunter, who is 27, lives at 23 Gwenyth Way, Hamilton Township. A native of Scotland, he has lived in the United States since 1952 and is now employed as a maintenance machinist at the Forrestal Research Center.

A resolution granting permission for Jublic Service Electric and Gas Co to erect a street light at the dead end of Edwards Place was approved. The street light will be located on the grassy section between the road and the sidewalk.

Also approved was a resolution accepting two new streets in Riverside West as public streets. The streets are Robert Road and Forester Drive.

Gifts Received. Councilman William H. Walker reported that the Borough had received two sets of gifts from citizens. Friends of Mr and Mrs. Frederick M. Lord have given three pieces of playground equipment in memory of the Lord's child, who was killed in an automobile accident last year. Mrs. Paul O. Roediger of 361 Nassau Street has given two holly trees for planting in Marquand Park.

Councilman Walker also reported that 16 trees are being planted in various Borough locations in accordance with the Borough's offer to share the expense of planting with homeowners when trees are planted on the right of way in front of the house. He added that trees on the right of way are the property of the Borough, and cannot be cut or removed by owner of the adjoining property.

No action was taken on an ordinance controlling dogs, but Councilman Walker said that discussions were continuing. He said that he anticipated that the ordinance ultimately adopted would provide more restraint than currently, but not total restraint.

Councilman Alfred E. Sorenson reported that Clean-Up Week was not as successful as in the past, despite extensive publicity. He recommended that a more active campaign for clean-up be conducted next year, with financial backing from the Borough if necessary.

The transfer of a taxi operator's license from Charles Bartolino to Anthony Gaylord was approved by Council. Also approved was the issuance of 11 taxi driver licenses, six renewals and five new applicants.

ACCIDENTS INJURE 5
Child Among Them. Nadine Vernon, 7, 293 Witherspoon Street was injured Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Witherspoon and Birch when, according to Township Police, she ran into the street and into the path of a car driven by Thomas DeMarco, 47, of Skillman, who was driving north on Witherspoon. Mr DeMarco took the child to Princeton Hospital in his car. Her left leg was broken.

Nadine was involved in a similar accident last year, when she darted into the street and into the side of a moving car on Lehigh Avenue.

Miss Ann Tokarcik, 20, 173 Nassau, suffered cuts on knee and eye and Mrs. A. Willi Schlottig sustained bruises in the chest when two cars collided at the Valley-Jefferson intersection last Thursday at 5 p.m.

Mr Schlottig, 63, husband of the injured woman, was driving east on Valley. He stopped at the "stop" sign, then entered the intersection in the path of a car driven by Mrs. Lillian Hardgrove, 48, Raritan, who was driving north on Jefferson. Miss Tokarcik was Mrs. Hargrove's passenger. Mr. Schlottig's car spun around and jumped the northeast curb of the intersection. Mr. Schlottig, who is a member of the staff at "Morven," was not injured.

Charles Lappan, 12, 201 Moore Street, was turning his bicycle into Spruce Street Saturday afternoon when his brakes failed. He swung wide, and hit the left rear fender of a car driven by Garry S. Chatto, 18, of Morrisville, Pa. Mr. Chatto had stopped in a lane of traffic.

There was no damage to car or to bicycle, but Charles suffered a bruised left shin-bone.

Mrs. Maybelle Schurer, 33, Freehold - Hightstown Road, came by herself to Princeton Hospital at 11:10 p.m. Friday with a fractured arm incurred as the result of an attack by an unkown assailant.

Dear TRAVELEX,

We arrived home from Japan, Hong Kong, Macao, and points East the other day, after a fabulous trip!

We just happened to be in Tokyo on November 3 the birthday anniversary of Emperor Meiji. We'd never seen such processions before! The most fantastic and beautiful you could imagine and everyone so orderly and well-behaved it was hard to believe. The ancient English city of Hong Kong was entirely different from orderly Japan, a real hodge-podge of people and things. Enough to make your head spin on a short visit like ours. I'd like to go back some day and see if I couldn't see more of it.

The Portugese port of Macao is the only free city on the mainland of Red China and, as you approach it by boat, it looks just like a town on the Riviera. It's a lovely place, though a little spooky for us because of its Bamboo Curtain boundaries.

All of us are home now with lots of pictures and souvenirs that will keep us company for a long while. Amusing anecdotes as well as glorious scenery and customs so different than ours at home in Princeton.

As ever,

ments that pre-date the Constitution of the United States by more than a century will be on display in a Tercentenary Historymobile. It will be parked at the YMCA on Avalon Place on Friday and the Princeton Shopping Center the following day.

Residents can view the blue, gold and white 16-ton "state museum on wheels" from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday and from 10 to 6 on Saturday. Dr. Rudolph Clemen, chairman of the Princeton Tercentenary Committee, has announced that the Committee has arranged a brief ceremony at 8:30 Friday to open officially the Historymobile.

On display inside the tractor-trailer are such documents as:

The Deeds of Lease and Release, signed by James, the Duke of York, in which the land between the Delaware and the Hudson Rivers was first called New Jersey and the political boundries of present-day Jersey were established dated June 23, 24, 1664.

The Concession and Agreement of The Proprietors, Freeholders, and Inhabitants of The Province of West Jersey in America, granting colonists freedom of conscience, trial by jury, and due process of law almost 125 years before the passage of the Bill of Rights, dated March 3, 1676.

The Monmouth Patent, a grant by Governor Richard Nicolls for land at "Sandy Point" (Sandy Hook) and on Raritan Bay, dated April 8, 1665.

STUDENT MISSING

In Light Plane. Bruce Haus, a junior at Princeton University, has been missing since early Monday morning, when he was scheduled to arrive at Mercer Airport, Trenton, in a Piper Colt plane belonging to the Princeton Aviation Club. Civil Air Patrol officials have been unable to search the mountains near Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where it is suspected the plane is down.

Mr. Hans had flown to Vassar College for the weekend and his flight plan called for him to leave Dutchess County Airport at 12:30 Monday morning for the 90-minute trip to Trenton.

A woman in New Windsor, N. Y., reported hearing a plane circling when Mr. Hans' plane should have been in the area, and said it sounded in difficulty. The Civil Air Patrol has checked 24 airports in the region between Mahwah, N. Y., and the Trenton-Robbinsville field with no success, and a low ceiling has prevented an air search for two days.

Ground crews have searched accessible areas, but have been unable to explore the mountains near Poughkeepsie because of rain, fog and bad terrain. The New York and New Jersey CAP plan an exhaustive search with 21 aircraft when the weather clears. The area involved would be 220 miles each side of the straightline from Mahwah to Trenton, following Mr. Hans' flight plan. He had flown between the two points many times, both during the day and at night.

A member of the undergraduate council during his freshman and sophomore years, the 20-year-old student is in the department of religion and has had 200 solo flying hours. He planned to take the test for a commercial license this week. He is the son of Lyle C. Hans of Lincoln, Neb.

The Aviation Club, to which he belonged, has 45 members, who maintain three planes at the airport. The other two are Aeronca Champs. The club was formed during the '30's and prior to this time has never been involved in a serious flying accident.

CHILD STRANGLES

In High Chair. The 23-month-old son of Mrs. Carol Muser, Richford Road, Kendall Park, strangled Monday, when he was caught between the tray and seat of his high chair. Mrs. Muser left Stephen to put an older child to bed, and answered the telephone on her way back to the kitchen.

Mrs. Muser told State Police she was on the telephone for one or two minutes when she saw that her son's neck was caught in the high chair. She and a neighbor attempted to revive the child with mouth to mouth resuscitation.

Dr. Thomas Evans of Franklin Park, the family physician, pronounced the child dead at 1:30 p.m.

FINAL OK GIVEN

To Two Developers. In a half-hour public session that was one of the briefest on record, the Township Planning Board Monday night gave its approval to final plans of the Ireland Development Company for development of the former Howe tract.

After the public meeting, the Board's Checking Committee approved the final preliminary plan submitted by Hunt and Augustine for "Winfield," the development on The Great Road near Mountain, and gave final approval to the preliminary plans for the last remaining portion of "Brookstone."

The brief public session with its one candidate caused Planning Board speculation that the subdivision boom is leveling off in the Township, although Joseph Shinn, building inspector, reminded Board members that one month's meeting does not necessarily reflect a trend.

JAYCEES PLAN DRIVE

For New Members. The Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting Monday night at 8 at Lahiere's Restaurant to which all men from 21 to 36 in the Princeton area are invited.

The Jaycees are conducting a month-long membership drive, and all men within that age bracket are invited to join, regardless of race, religion or creed. Kenneth Van Riper, membership chairman of the Princeton chapter, will preside at the session.

Yale Traffic Daily?

A dismal picture of traffic conditions in Princeton in years to come was given at Monday's Borough Council meeting by Councilman Dan D. Coyle.

Stating that 15,000 additional cars are expected to arrive here over the weekend for the Yale-Princeton game, Mr. Coyle pointed out that this will be the equivalent of the daily traffic flow predicted for Princeton in 1970.

"Everybody should take a good look at traffic this weekend," Mr. Coyle said. "This is the way it will be every day of the week in 1970."

The Jaycees have a current roster of 53, and are active in a variety of civic projects within the Princeton area. Nationally, there are two million members of the organization, with chapters in some 4000 communities.

PAVING, CURBS APPROVED

By Hopewell Council. Following several months of court action and lengthy discussion, the Hopewell Borough Council adopted Monday night the ordinance to extend the paving and curbs on Lafayette Street for three blocks. The "conflict of interest" charge was again directed against four council members, who are associated with property owners who will benefit from the improvements.

A. Merlin Smith, Carl Wilson and J. Neil Arrington, officials of Rockwell Manufacturing, whose plant is located on Layfayette, are members of the Council. The vote on the ordinance was 5-1, with Joseph B. Hill 2nd, voting against the measure.

Four Hopewell residents, who attended the meeting, raised objections to the ordinance. Robert Thalhofer, past president of the Chamber of Commerce, emphasized the conflict of interest between the council membership and the companies owning property on Layfayette. Besides Rockwell, Castro Construction Company and Hill Estate contributed to the original installation of drains.

Mr. Thalhofer maintained the Borough was inviting another suit by passing the ordinance, which authorizes the town to pay the full amount for the curbs. The previous measure, who was invalidated by Superior Court, called for the Borough to share the cost of curbing with the property owners.

Ralph Ferrante and Walter Chartier expressed themselves in favor of the old ordinance, and Thurland B. Farr declared the new rule would set a bad precedent with the likelihood of other property owners demanding the same concession.

David L. Smith, Borough attorney, pointed out that the improvement was highly desirable since Lafayette leads to the new Rosa Acres housing development, and that improved traffic conditions would result with Rockwell's addition to its plant. He stated the Superior Court ruling was too strict an interpretation of conflict of interest, and would bar almost any councilman from passing on Borough matters.

The total cost of the paving and curbs is estimated at $16,000. Ninety percent of the paving will be paid for by the state, with the remainder to be borne by the Borough. Advertising will be placed for construction bids to be received by December 11.

MORE ON "MANSGROVE"

Hearing Continues. Second in a series of hearings on the application for a use variance to permit construction of a 125-unit garden apartment, "Mansgrove Gardens," was held last Friday night before the Township Zoning Board. Approximately 100 persons attended. The third meeting is scheduled for this Thursday at 8:30 p.m., immediately following the Zoning Board's regular meeting.

ment project on a 10½-acre section of property they own between Jefferson and Mt. Lucas Roads, abutting on Valley Road. J. Seymour Montgomery is representing the Turners and Theodore T. Tams, Jr., is representing the Hillcrest Civic Association, Inc., and other property owners in the vicinity who are opposed to the project.

In response to questioning by Mr. Montgomery, Brown Rolston, architect for the project, said that there would be three parking areas near the apartments, with space for 136 cars. Mr. Tams asked the location of these parking areas, and Mr Rolston said that 30 would empty into Valley Road, 65 into Mt. Lucas Road, and 41 into Jefferson Road.

Mr Rolston also showed an alternative plot plan to the one originally presented, with the service area switched from Jefferson Road to Mt Lucas Road, and said that "there are always infinite ways of solving a plot plan of this kind." He also said that a hedge of evergreens was planned, to act as a screen between the apartments and other dwellings in the area

Documents Rejected. Mr Montgomery then attempted to introduce various documents reporting sections of testimony on multiple housing previously given before the Township Planning Board Mr Tams objected, saying that such documents would be "completely hearsay as far as this hearing goes" and that use of them would "violate the basic rules of jurisprudence," since the testimony could not be sworn to or cross-examined The Zoning Board ruled in favor of Mr Tams, saying that its members wanted to make their "own independent inquiry" and reach their "own independent decision."

Mr Montgomery then called Wilson O Bachman of 141 East Delaware Avenue, Pennington, a Trenton real estate broker Mr Bachman testified that in his opinion multiple housing would be "the highest and best use" for the Turner property He said that property was not suitable for single-family residences, partly because of its proximity to commercial property and partly because of the traffic at the junction of Witherspoon Street, Valley Road, and State oad He characterized this junction as "the busiest traffic spot in the Township," a description which brought gasps of amazement from a previously quiet audience

Another factor against construction of single-family residences on the property, Mr Bachman said, would be the cost of the lots If the proposed extension of Terhune Road should go through, he said, there would only be enough room left for 14 lots, and these would have to sell for at least $10,300 apiece, a price which he described as "entirely out of step with other housing in the immediate arear."

An apartment complex, Mr. Bachman said, would "act as a buffer," protecting present residential areas to the north and east of the tract. "This land won't stay fallow forever," he said. "It would be put to best use in order to protect property values in the area"

Public Questions. As in the previous hearing, members of the audience were permitted to ask brief factual questions at the close of the lawyers' presentations. Edgar J. Johnsoo of 277 Moore Street asked how many entrances were planned for the project and Mr. Rolston said there would be six entrances.

Mrs. G V Whiteman of 453 Jefferson Road asked where guests would park their cars Mr. Rolston replied that 10 extra parking places were planned and that any additional cars would have to park in the driveway.

P. U. C. F. NEEDS $37,907 To Reach $250,000 Goal. The Princeton United Community Fund campaign is 37,907 short of its goal of $250,000, drive officials reported this week. A total of $212,093 has been raised to date.

Robert V. Dilley, campaign chairman, issued a special appeal to campaign volunteers to complete their solicitation and file returns. He said no deadline has been set for the campaign but called for "one final, all-out effort" to reach the goal.

Mr. Dilley said over 1500 persons have served as volunteer workers in the fund drive. Over 7,000 individuals and firms have contributed so far, he said.

TO REPORT ON COUNCIL

At Goucher Club Meeting. A report on the 56th Alumnae Council Meeting held at the college this fall will be featured at a meeting of the Goucher Club of Princeton Monday at 8.30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John H. Brown, 55 Marion Road, East. Mrs. Earl Douglass of 41 Armour Road, alumnae councillor for the club, will give the report. The club's president, Mrs. G. Reginald Bishop, Jr. of 10 Academy Street, Kingston, will conduct the meeting. All Goucher alumnae in the Princeton and New Brunswick areas are invited and are asked to reply to Mrs. Brown by Friday.

HARVEST DANCE SET

In West Windsor. The recreation committee of West Windsor Township will sponsor a "Harvest Dance" for adults on Saturday, November 25, from 8:30 p.m. to midnight in the auditorium of Dutch Neck School.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the recreation committee. Robert Keys is chairman of the committee. Members are Mrs. Alan Lippmann, Mrs. Edna Marten, Mrs. Starr Northrop, Mrs. Guy Bensinger, Jr., Howard Kendall and Thomas Smith.

AUTHORS TO BE GUESTS

At Children's Panel. Three authors who live in the Princeton area will discuss their books and answer questions about them at a panel celebration in honor of Children's Book Week. The panel will be held this Thursday at 3:30 in the First Presbyterian Church Assembly Room. (Picture, page 3.)

The authors are Elizabeth Johnson from Princeton, Keith Robertson, Hopewell and Marguerite de Angeli from Philadelphia. Mrs. Johnson has just published her second book, "Almost Cousins," which concerns children in a college town who become involved in a hat experiment.

Mr. Robertson received the William Allen White Award this fall for 'Henry Reed, Inc.", the story of a boy's experiences with his own research firm in Princeton. Mrs. De Angeli received the Newbery Medal for her book, "The Door in the Wall." Her most recent book is "A Pocketful of Posies."

The moderator will be Miss Laura Lou Brookman, associate editor of Ladies Home Journal and owner of the Delaware Bookshop in New Hope. Following a brief talk by each author, a panel of five children will ask questions and then the audience will have a chance to query the guests.

HOLIDAY DANCE SET

By YWCA Teenagers. The YWCA Teen-Age Committee will sponsor a Holiday Tea Dance to be held next Wednesday from 3 to 5 at the Y building on Avalon Place.

The dance is open to all high school students and will be informal, but boys are requested to wear ties and jackets. There will be refreshments. Reservations and further information may be obtained from the YWCA (WA 4-4825.)

PINES ARE TOPIC

Of Garden Club Meeting. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Woodford of Marlton, a guide in the pine area of New Jersey, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Lawrenceville Garden Club Tuesday at 1:30 in the home of Mrs. Joseph E. Alloway, Hendrickson Road, Lawrenceville.

Mrs. Woodford's topic will New Jersey's Pine Barrons." Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. M. E. Anderson, Mrs. William Jahos, Mrs. George McBride and Mrs. Charles Venner.

SERVICE HELD

By Legion Post. Princeton Post 76, American Legion, held a memorial service last Saturday, Veterans' Day, at the World War I monument, Mercer and Stockton Streets. The service began at the traditional hour of 11 a.m.

Alexander Procaccino, post commander, and the Rev. Dr. William L. Tucker, chaplain, led the service. James Whitlow had charge of the color guard and Robert Schmidt sounded taps. Ernest F. Drake placed a wreath on the monument. Mayor Raymond F. Male represented the Borough.

A DOZEN FOR "MORVEN"

Mrs. Hughes Expects Child. The next occupants of "Morven" will be the dozen—in May—members of the Hughes family Following the election of Judge Richard Hughes as governor of New Jersey last week, Mrs. Hughes announced that she and the governor-elect expect their tenth child in May.

Mrs. Hughes said that she withheld the announcement because she did not think that the impending birth "should be a part of the political campaign." She also said that the governor-elect "thinks it's just wonderful."

The Hughes were married seven years ago It was the second marriage for each.

Judge Hughes' first wife died in 1950, and Mrs Hughes' first husband, a pilot, was killed in a plane crash in 1951. By his first wife, Mr. Hughes has four children, Mary, 12; John, 16, Robert, 25; and Richard, 26. Mrs. Hughes is the mother of Michael, 12, Tim, 11; and Pat, 9.

Since their marriage, the Hughes have had two children of their own, Brian, 5, and Honey, 4 They hope they will have a girl in May, Mrs. Hughes said.

Mrs Robert Meyner, the present occupant of "Morven," has told Mrs. Hughes that there are nine bedrooms in the governor's mansion. There is a master bedroom, and six bedrooms on the second floor and two more on the third.

Mrs. Hughes toured "Morven" two years ago, she said, but didn't bother to look over the upstairs. Later, when her husband was nominated, she began to wonder whether "Morven" could accomodate all the Hughes.

DEFENSE PLAN URGED

By PTA Committee. The civil defense committee of the Parent-Teacher Association of West Windsor Township has recommended a series of steps to protect children in the schools in the event of nuclear attack.

BUSINESS In Princeton

"DON'T FEED METERS" Chamber Makes Plea. The Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council (GPCC) has urged area businessmen to help stop all-day use of metered parking spaces along curbs. The GPCC has pointed out that the practice drives away potential customers.

The group stated that one curbside parking space can handle between eight and 32 cars during an eight-hour period. A letter has been sent to area businessmen from the GPCC signed by Fred M. Blaicher, president, and Alan Frank, chairman of the retail division.

The letter says, "If you are a businessman, and you and your employees are feeding meters, then you are hurting business because you are not only preventing potential customers from using these spaces, but what is worse, you are probably driving customers away."

The letter calls upon businessmen to work voluntarily to stop meter-feeding. Although the Borough has had an ordinance against meter-feeding since 1950, the letter says, "It would be a sad commentary if we were unable to control this ourselves, and had to ask for police help in a matter which is of such vital concern to all of us in business."

SANTA CLAUS IS HERE For Christmas Club Members. Over 1,500 members of the 1961 Christmas Club operated by Princeton Bank and Trust received checks totalling $161,734 in this week's mail.

The 1,500 figure represents an increase over the number of 1960 participants, according to George Cook, III, president of the bank. The 1962 Club opened Monday.

MISS BRITCHER, ARTIST Illustrates Catalog. Miss Phyllis Britcher, owner of the toy shop, Stuff 'n Nonsense at 10 Moore Street, has done the cover illustration and inside drawings for the Christmas catalog of The Block Shop in Hamden, Conn. Copies are now being mailed throughout the Princeton area.

From 1945 to 1957, Miss Britcher did all the art work for the Block Shop catalog, and the present cover is identical with the first one she did in 1945. Miss Britcher was an author and illustrator of children's books before she started her toy shop.

COOK ATTENDS MEETING Of Real Estate Boards. Edmund D. Cook, president of Edmund Cook and Company, is in Miami Beach, Florida, attending the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. He is on the national board of governors of the Institute of Real Estate Management, and will be on a General Session panel.

Approximately 8,000 have been attending the convention, representing all 50 states. Mr. Cook is the only Certified Property Manager in the Princeton area, and is one of the few appraisers in Mercer County who has passed all qualifications of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

It's New To Us

yellow). "Farmer's Market" for a modern country kitchen, hangs its monochrome wire baskets of onions and vegetables in a fresh way that is not at all countrified.

In another mood, gold garlands pose formally on a white ground. Again, in a formal, but modern manner, Thaibaut shows batik squares in deep rust brown with the look and feel of a hand-made textile.

Wall-Tex likes the vinyl idea, too. Here you'll find a gold and silver mermaid in various stages of hide and seek with a sailor in "Lorelei." A shower curtain matches. In another set, the inevitable powder-room poodle grooms herself on shower curtain and wallpaper.

The Federal touch appears in feathers that curve with classic symmetry against a pale wheat background. The homespun touch appears in a gingham group, done in pink, blue or yellow or, surprisingly, shiny gold. Don't miss "Coquette," a white paper with inch-wide asters spaced half a foot apart, coy as a wink.

One thing you may want to think about for Christmas even though you are not papering the wall. Morris Maple has a fascinating book called Fantastic Foils, full of samples of metallic foil paper in splendid Persian black and bronze patterns, shy ice-blue and silver rain patterns, mirror finishes, or snowflakes in silver on gold. Immense possibilities for a creative hand and eye.

FLOWER SHOP EXPANDS Allen's, in Hopewell. It was only a couple of years ago that Allen's Flowers, Hopewell, redid its present shop on Broad Street. Now, Mr. Allen has broken through the wall and moved into the space next door, thereby doubling the room he had to begin with. Open House this Saturday from 1 to 6—plenty of time to exclaim over the broad glass front, the white-gravelled planter, the redwood and white walls and the taste and imagination shown by Mr. Allen and his architect in the new, expanded building.

In his new space, Mr. Allen expects to compete with himself. He will offer an immensely expanded line of—you'll never guess—artificial flowers. (The real ones will continue their steady way, don't worry.) You will be able to buy a simple, beguiling little one-dollar arrangement, or a masterpiece that costs $35. Most prices, however, will be in the $5 range.

There will be hyacinths and lemon trees, orchids and pine needles, miniature roses and crown lilies. We saw an arrangement built around a hen and chickens, whose softly greyed shades had been picked up in a variety of pastel flowers. We found the crown lily particularly impressive as an artificial piece, largely because it's a flower you wouldn't expect to find in a make-believe collection. There are African violets, healthiest things you ever saw, for $2.50 or so, and a nosegay of violets only this big, in a small white urn. That one's only $1.10.

Besides all these ravishing fakes, Allen's makes up natural flowers into charming autumn arrangements, warm and lovely on a Thanksgiving table or just right to fill in a bare spot that needs color for these autumn weeks. Mr. Allen estimates that his yellow chrysanthemum, cattail, bayberry arrangements last over two weeks. Should carry you part way from Thanksgiving to Christmas.

In its new, expanded quarters, the shop will continue to sell the Gregor petite miniature chocolates and petit-fours which have proved so popular in previous holiday seasons.

When should you buy Life Insurance?
The best time is when you are young because then annual premiums are low. But many young married men face a dilemma. They decide to postpone the purchase of life insurance till their family situation creates a greater need. However, they find later that premiums are higher and in the meantime, they run the risk of being uninsurable. Here's a sound formula for meeting the problem. It's Manufacturers Life's "Security Graph plus G.I.B." — Security Graph helps avoid costly postponements by setting up a plan for buying insurance according to future needs and ability to pay. G.I.B is a new policy rider that enables the buyer of a new policy to purchase more insurance at regular rates at specific dates in the future — regardless of changes of health or occupation.
Talk to the Man from Manufacturers Life about this new security formula today.

Topics Of The Town

The committee will present its recommendations to the Board of Education of West Windsor Township at a meeting on Monday. The committee plans also to enlist the cooperation of Frank Wiener, director of civil defense in the Township, and Congressman Frank Thompson.

The committee has recommended the construction of a bomb shelter for school children. It found present defense plans, which call for evacuation of children by bus, insufficient by themselves.

To supplement present plans, and in lieu of a bomb shelter, the committee has recommended covering school windows with wire to prevent injury from flying glass; stocking water, food and medical supplies and installation of a dosimeter and a transistor radio at each school.

The committee has also suggested that a bulletin be issued to parents and teachers explaining defense plans in the schools. It has asked the board to encourage teachers to take courses in first-aid and to familiarize themselves with survival procedures in the event of nuclear attack.

The committee has urged improvement of the present system of warning sirens. It plans also to distribute a list to parents of articles on preparing for nuclear attack.

GARMENTS COLLECTED By Needlework Guild. New garments, sewn or purchased by the 500 women who compose the Princeton Needlework Guild, were collected Thursday in the First Presbyterian Church for the Guild's annual In-Gathering.

The total, 2,087 garments, was exceeded by last year's total of 2,600, but Mrs. Joseph Nini, president of the Guild, said that the quality of this year's collection was higher, including shoes, sheets and blankets.

Each Guild meets its own needs. In Princeton, the Guild has such beneficiaries as the First Aid and Rescue Squad, the Princeton Day Nursery, Family Service Agency, Borough and Township Welfare Departments and so on.

In addition, each Princeton church names an institution to which the Guild sends clothing. Most of the requests are for garments and equipment for infants and children.

Mrs. Nini, the Guild president, is also a member of the Board of Directors of the National Guild.

CHRISTMAS SHOW SET By Garden Club. The Hopewell Valley Garden Club will sponsor a Christmas Greens Show and Bazaar on Friday, December 1, from 2 to 9 in fellowship hall of the Presbyterian Church, West Broad Street, Hopewell.

Mrs. Townsend Scudder and Mrs. William A. Pistell are co-chairmen for the event. Tea will be served from 3 to 5. Mrs. Newell G. Holcombe, club president, is honorary chairman.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Alex G. Graham, Mrs. L. S. Rossiter, Mrs. Charles Tobin, Mrs. Raymond Van Dyke, Mrs. Daniel Davis, Mrs. A. V. S. Olcott, Mrs. Edgar Savidge, Mrs. John Burd, Mrs. Thomas Richards, Mrs. Theodore Pierson, Jr.

Also, Mrs. E. F. Azzara, Mrs. John Faussett, Mrs. Thurland Farr, Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Anthony Zega, Mrs. Walter Chartier, Mrs. Richard Edling, Mrs. Oscar Owen, Mrs. Donald Vollrath, Mrs. George K. Hall, Jr., Mrs. Richard Meister, Mrs. Jerald Hanks and Mrs. Mortimer Zwaff.

Report from THE MAYOR

Open House Schedule. The regular weekly "Tell It To The Mayor!" sessions will be held on Friday, November 17, and on Tuesday, November 21, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings. Next week's open house is scheduled for Tuesday to avoid schedule conflicts over the Thanksgiving Day weekend.

Veteran's Day. Princeton Post 76 of the American Legion is again to be commended for keeping alive the traditional ceremonies at the memorial at the Mercer-Stockton intersection.

The Mayor joined the small group at 11 a.m. Princeton cannot forget the sacrifices of those who helped preserve our freedoms.

Water. At Tuesday night's meeting with the Council, the Mayor reported on a meeting scheduled for Thursday afternoon to discuss the recent difficulties with the Princeton water supply. While water in Princeton is a privately-owned and operated public utility, the governing bodies share a concern for the proper maintenance of a safe and adequate water supply.

During the past week, much information or misinformation was spread and many unanswered questions were raised by worried residents. A minimum requirement for public confidence is an effective testing procedure, publicly supervised, and with adequate arrangements for public information.

On The Schedule. Last week's calendar included testimony by the Mayor and other Borough officials and staff in the Superior Court; the entertaining of a distinguished visitor from Japan; attendance at a dinner in honor of Dr. Stephen J. Wright, President of Fisk University; and an important meeting of Mayor and Council which saw the introduction of an ordinance to further expand the proposed Nassau East off-street parking facility.

Important Step. The case in Superior Court—which the Borough won—involved an important step in the acquisition of a most important segment of the so-called "missing link" in the Wiggins-Avalon street network.

The parcel involved the vital first portion west of Witherspoon Street on the long-delayed project. The next step is the determination by court-appointed officials of the fair price for the land.

More Than 200. The Nassau East parking facility will be an even more useful and effective one upon completion of the purchase of additional land as proposed in the new ordinance.

A public hearing is scheduled for Tuesday, December 12, at 8 p.m. at Borough Hall. The Borough engineering staff estimate that the project will involve the addition of more than 200 off-street parking spaces, as well as making it unnecessary to make truck deliveries from busy Nassau Street.

Car Wash Planned

A car wash to help raise funds for special programs and service projects of the Hi-Y Club of the Princeton YMCA will be held by that organziation Saturday from 10 to 5 in the YMCA parking lot on Avalon Place.

Cars without whitewall tires will be washed for $1; owners of whitewall tires will have to pay $1.25. It will take approximately 12 minutes to complete a car on an assembly line basis. Tickets may be obtained in advance from club members or at the Y building.

YALE GAME A TOSS-UP

Because of Tiger Injuries. A Yale team that has already lost its chance of repeating as Ivy champion will meet a Princeton eleven hamstrung by a succession of injuries Saturday at 1:30 in Palmer Stadium. Despite the indications that both teams will function short of normal ability, expectations are that a crowd approaching 45,000 will sit in on the proceedings.

Princeton will be battling for its first victory over the Elis in three seasons, and for a chance to finish in a first-place tie in the league standings. Topped at Cambridge Saturday, 9-7, by a Harvard touchdown with less than five minutes to go, the undermanned Tigers now see Columbia perched above them, with only weak Pennsylvania standing between the Lions and a 6-1 finish.

To equal that, Princeton will have to post successive victories over Yale and Dartmouth. If it could have gone into these climactic games at full strength, the odds for such an achievement would have been in its favor.

But now the hobbled Tigers are without Greg Riley and Hugh MacMillan, their top two tailbacks; without Barry Schuman, as fine a pass receiver as the league has among its ends; and minus the services of other key players lost earlier in the season. Under the circumstances, odds are against their defeating both Yale and Dartmouth, and they can be no better than an even choice against an Eli outfit which, a fortnight ago, they would have been picked to dominate handily.

Elis Lack Good Backs. After running roughshod over the Ivy League while compiling a fine 9-0 mark in 1960, Yale has not been able to mount a steady offense this season. The Blue lacks speed to the outside, and is weaker in passing than at any time in the last five years. In their first seven games, the Bulldogs have connected on only 35 of 89 aerial attempts—a scant 39 percent.

Bill Leekonby, a left-handed operative, is the quarterback who took over the tough assignment of replacing the graduated Tom Singleton. Ted Hard and Rich Niglio are a pair of capable tailbacks; Coach Jordan Olivar has used a variety of starting halfback combinations, with Lee Marsh, a junior, and Randy Egloff, a sophomore, getting the call last week in the 23-0 victory over Penn. Lynard Hinojosa, a 160-lb speedster, is among the top threats as a breakaway back.

Like virtually all Princeton's other opponents, the Blue will outweigh Princeton up front by about ten pounds to the man. Since the Tigers will need an air arm even more than when they were fully manned to spread the defense, mud or rain would make the Elis clear-cut favorites on Saturday.

Captain Paul Bursick, a 185-lb guard, and Matt Black, a center who weighs the same, are the Elis' top linemen. Injuries and one loss to military service have kept the Yale line below strength, but it will still present formidable opposition to the Tigers.

Blue Is 4-3. Victories over Connecticut and Brown opened Yale's season, but the 11-game streak over two seasons came to an end the following Saturday, when Columbia blanked the Blue, 11-0. Thereafter, Yale has been a see-saw team, beating Cornell, losing to Colgate and Dartmouth and coming back to trim Penn last weekend.

Whatever their problems, the Bulldogs are tremendous opportunists, and expectations are they will be in the game right down to the finish. If they add to the harvest of a season that so far has been little better than mediocre, a Yale victory will not be in the nature of an upset.

HARVARD RALLY WINS

Tiger Scoring Punch Fails. Twice stopped short of the goal line from within ten yards, Princeton lacked the margin for victory Saturday when Harvard finally pushed across the touchdown it had been threatening to produce all day. Ahead by no more than 7-3 despite two deep penetrations into Crimson territory, the Orange and Black yielded a score with 4:50 on the clock, could not come within field-goal distance on its retaliatory march, and lost, 9-7.

Despite the defeat, it is difficult to fault a team which played under the handicaps this one did. Riley's loss at Providence was followed by a mid-week shoulder fracture suffered by MacMillan. Had both of them been able to play, it is wholly unlikely that the Tigers would have been held to the lone touchdown they managed on the bone-dry field that greeted them in the rare Cambridge sunshine.

They ran and passed for 327 yards, controlling the game for most of the second period and virtually all of the second half—until a fumble after a pass reception by John Henrich set the stage on the Princeton 46 for the winning touchdown. Had a score resulted from either a second period thrust that carried to the Crimson five, or a fourth-quarter drive that was stopped on the three, the belated Harvard march would merely have narrowed the margin.

After the Cantabs had opened the scoring with a field goal from the Princeton 21, Princeton struck back with a razzle-dazzle touchdown contributed by wingback Jim Rockenbach. Nabbing a short pass from tailback Dave Ibbeken after it had been tipped by John Henrich and joggled by two Harvard defenders, the 180-lb. sophomore shook off one tackler after another as he ran 70 yards into the end zone.

Injuries took their toll on both sides throughout the game, the Tigers losing both starting ends (Schumao and Hank Large) and wingback Dan Terpack before the first half ended. Large and Terpack are figured to be back for Yale, but Schuman's knee injury will bench him for the last two games.

The Tigers made matters harder for themselves by inconsistent blocking, an occasional costly penalty and extremely expensive fumbles. Still and all, Harvard had been installed as a slight favorite on Riley's injury, figured to win with ease once MacMillan was out and barely eked out a two-point decision. It was a hard game to lose, ending the perfect record that the Tigers had maintained in Ivy action, but possibly too much to expect them to win.

MacMillan Injury "Censored." In an unprecedented move, Dick Colman and the Princeton coaching staff withheld from the press the news that Hugh MacMillan had broken his shoulder diving for a pass in practice Wednesday before the game. At a time when various sportswriters were asking whether MacMillan or Pete Porcitis would start in Riley's place, the answer was, "No decision has been made yet" despite the fact that x-rays clearly showed MacMillan's fracture.

The coaches' move was predicated on the belief that knowledge of MacMillan's injury would enable Harvard to adjust its defenses in pregame practices for Princeton—running them tighter because neither Porcitis or Ibbeken have his speed to the outside. The deception was even carried to the point that Ibbeken wore jersey No. 47 (MacMillan's) in the pre-game warm-up Saturday at Cambridge, then changing to his own (43) just before the kick-off.

It is difficult to believe that the deception could have had an effect on the outcome of the game. The unfortunate aftermath is the poor public relations created by the incident among the sportswriting fraternity, and the fact that, for years to come, statements on a key player's condition will invariably be subject to the strongest doubt.

Unbeaten Freshmen to Face Yale

A freshman team which has caught the fancy of Princeton football fans will play its last game Saturday morning at 11 on Bedford Field. Yale's Class of 1965 will provide the opposition, bringing a 2-2 record into the contest.

Coach Pep McCarthy's big squad (the line outweighs the varsity by several pounds per man) has won its five contests to date, all by margins ranging from 11 to 35 points. They opened with a 36-12 triumph over Rutgers and followed with these victories: Columbia, 27-8, Cornell, 14-3; Penn, 35-0; and Harvard, 14-0.

Best feature of the season to date has been the defensive ability the freshmen have shown, allowing only one TD to an Ivy opponent. At Cambridge Saturday, when a fumble at the outset gave the Harvard freshmen the ball on the Princeton 25, three plays later it was fourth and 16 on the 31, with Harvard in punt formation.

Offensively, the team does not appear to have hit its potential, largely because so many backs familiar with T football must begin to learn the single wing from scratch. But backfield depth is there in better than average quantity.

Tailbacks Don McKay and John O'Brien have been eye-catchers this season, as have wingbacks Tony Kraosen and Doug Tufts, fullbacks Cosmo Iacavazzi and Roy Pizzarella. Iacavazzi, a high school All-American, has scored seven touchdowns so far and was elected captain before the Harvard game last week.

A Pennsylvania product, where many of the country's top players are reared, Iacavazzi is a true football lover. The story goes that two or three days after the freshman squad had assembled, and the coaches had been able to do little more than sort out the backs from the linemen, Cos asked Coach McCarthy if they could hold a scrimmage that afternoon.

"We can't scrimmage this early in the season," McCarthy replied emphatically. "Why not?" Cos inquired. "We've got 22 men and a ball."

Eye-catching as the freshmen are, they'll create a problem when the 1962 season rolls around. The presence of a better than average yearling squad invariably leads to over-optimistic predictions for the varsity's upcoming campaign. As the late Charlie Caldwell often said, "I have never yet seen sophomores primarily responsible for a team's success."

PHS BEATS HAMILTON For Winning Season. The seven-game career of the 1961 Princeton High School football team and the 16-year career of PHS coach Joe Jingoli ended on a victorious note Friday as the Little Tigers beat Hamilton High School, 25-12, on Harris Field.

The triumph was the Blue and White's fourth in seven games and marked the sixth year in a row it has finished with a winning season. At the final whistle, the jubilant PHS players hoisted their coach high on their shoulders and carried him off the field. It was a fitting tribute, for Joe, throughout those 16 years, was one of the most affable and well-liked coaches in the area.

Though Jingoli's future is clearly defined—he is the new athletic director at Princeton High School—that of the 1962 Little Tigers is not. Whether PHS will continue to play as an independent, a situation in which the school finds it increasingly hard to schedule games, or whether it will be accepted into membership of the South Central Jersey League, is still not known.

There was no uncertainty, however, about who was to be the eventual winner in the PHS-Hamilton fray. Three Blue and White seniors made their last performance a memorable one by scoring all four of their team's touchdowns to lead the way to victory over the Hornets. For Hamilton it was just one more defeat, its seventh in eight games.

Don Cooper, sophomore tailback, threw three touchdown passes, two to senior end George Tucker and one to senior quarterback Tom Olsen, to duplicate the feat he accomplished against Steinert two games earlier. Both of his scoring aerials to Tucker came in the first quarter and covered 37 and 75 yards, respectively.

The fourth senior, fullback Charlie Pemberton, drove 25 yards for Princeton High's third tally.

The first time the Little Tigers had possession of the ball they marched 47 yards in two plays. Cooper circled end for 10 and then threw to Tucker for the remaining distance. The pass was deflected off the hands of a Hornet defender into those of Tucker, who scampered over for the score. Tom Olsen booted the extra point.

Near the end of the period, Tucker crossed over the middle from his left end position, caught a short pass from Cooper and raced down the sidelines en route to the goal line some 60 yards away. In two plays, Pemberton gave the home team a 19-0 bulge as he returned a punt to the Hamilton 25 in the second quarter and got the last 25 up the middle on the next play.

A few plays earlier, Pemberton had carried 22 yards on a twisting run for an apparent score but the play was nullified when one of his teammates was detected offside. The public address announcer, a PHS student, set aside impartiality when he announced that "an offside penalty nullified Pemberton's brilliant run for a touchdown."

Question of the Week

Question: Who do you pick to win this year's Princeton-Yale game and by what score?

Where Asked: Around town

Joe McManinmon, Alexander Street, Princeton Junction, plumber: I think Princeton is a much stronger and better passing team. They have the best pass defense that I've seen in 20 years. I say Princeton 21, Yale 7.

Rich Rosso, 343 Witherspoon Street, plumber: I pick Yale 26 to 7. I think Yale has a better defensive team. They're bigger and they're heavier. I say Yale's end, Ruly Carpenter, will be in the Princeton backfield all afternoon.

Louis "Tiger" Robeson, 78 Nassau Street, boothlack: Princeton should beat Yale by 10 or 11 points. Colman has brought the team along slowly and now they are blocking and tackling very well. Did you see the blocking they did against Brown? Now that they are going, I'd say they'll beat Yale about 20 to 10. I picked Princeton to beat Yale last year but they fumbled four times and Yale cashed in on three of them. Otherwise we would have won. It's too bad Riley is hurt because he's a good man. Colman says he's out for the year but I think he'll play in the Yale game. I just wish he had 25 more pounds on him so he could bull his way through.

William Cavanaugh, 71 Pine Street, painter: This is a traditional game and anything can happen, but I like Princeton. Princeton has a good, fast backfield. I say Princeton will win, 20-6.

Robert Warren, 44 Maple Street: Princeton will beat Yale, 28-20. I'll be on the Yale side rooting for Yale, so Princeton's bound to win. Whoever I root for, loses.

Robert Zimmerman, South Bound Brook, general contractor: Princeton by 18 points. I think Princeton has a much better ball club than Yale. I haven't made any study of comparative scores but I know Princeton has played some good games this year. I don't know if Riley being out will hurt the team or not. I think Princeton has a well balanced team both on offense and defense. And that's what football is—a game of both. Princeton may not be a top team but they seem to have enough to win.

Warren Froelich, Jr., Grovers Mill, mover: I pick Yale to win, 19-13. I don't think Princeton has the same spirit they used to have in the days when Kazmaier was around. Don't ask me why, I just don't know. But something seems to be lacking. I hear this MacMillan is greased lightning and can do the 100 under 10 seconds. If they can build a team around him, they should do all right next year.

Al Robertiello, Jr., 34 Pine Street, carpenter: From what I've seen of Princeton and from Yale's record, I say Princeton will win, probably by a score of 27-13. It might make some difference with Riley out but they have some good boys who should fill in. Yale and Princeton has always been a tradition game, though, and you never can tell what will happen.

William Pocino, Berrien Avenue, Princeton Junction, mover: Princeton moves pretty well on the ground and I think they should beat Yale by one touchdown. I feel if they take Yale, they'll beat Dartmouth and go all the way.

George Pfaff, Eleanor Avenue, Trenton, appliance serviceman: Princeton, but I think it is going to be very close. I'd say Princeton will win, 13-12, that's how close I think it will be. Actually, I think Princeton has been lucky this year. I don't think they have much of anything but, then, neither does Yale this year, from what I've read.

James Riley, Pottsville, Pa., pipefitter: I pick Yale because Princeton has too many injuries, especially Riley, who is their key back. I don't think either team will score more than three touchdowns. I'd say 20-13. Yale, or somewhere in that vicinity.

Michael Fuschini, 25 Witherspoon Street, foreman: I think Princeton will win easily over Yale. Yale doesn't have the same spirit as they did last year when they were a ranked team. Princeton has had its troubles outside the Ivy League and at the beginning of the season, but now they are getting tough to beat. When you get down to brass tacks, I don't think they'll lose the rest of the year. The Yale score should be a high one again this year and I'll pick Princeton to win about 38-20—and that's without Riley.

Hubert Bailey, Wood Street, Hightstown, car painter for Lahiere-Kane: I pick Yale to beat Princeton, 32-16. I think they have a better and faster backfield than Princeton does. I remember what Yale did to Princeton last year and the year before.

Anthony Lieggi, 108 Nassau Street, owner, Yeoman's Liquor Store: Princeton, certainly, because they have a better, all-around team than Yale without question. I say the score will be about 24-14.

Ellis Warren, Cranbury corker for Public Service: I think Yale has a good chance of taking it again this year. Of course, I'd like to see Princeton win—everybody likes to see the home team win—but I think Yale has the edge on them both in passing and running. I'd say Yale will beat them by two touchdowns with the score about 20-7.

TO THE VICTOR BELONGS THE RIDE: Joe Jingoli (shown also at right) is carried off the field on his team's shoulders Friday after 25-12 triumph over Hamilton, ending 16-year coaching career at Princeton High. He will continue to serve as the school's director of athletics. (Staff Photos.)

In the final period, Cooper turned Hamilton's right end for 28 yards to set up his 10-yard TD pass to Olsen in the end zone for the winners' final six-pointer. Olsen missed the PAT for the third time.

In addition to Pemberton, Olsen and Tucker, these seniors played their last game for Princeton High: Art Ridler, Joe Cox, Don Opdyke, Anthony Altieri, Tom Volz, Captain Don Zuber, Robert Copeland, Gary Mount, Pete Greenfield, John Counts, Don Truesdell, Frank Cocciolillo, Tillman Punch, Robert Schwenker, Guy Lampkin, Russell Farkouh, Samuel Spangerburg, John Corcoran, Bill Durling and David Hulfish.

HUN FINALE SATURDAY Will End Fine Season. The Hun School football team, 6-1 following a 28-6 victory over George School, will end its season Saturday when it travels to Moorestown to meet Delharton. The game will start at 2.

Win, lose or draw, it will mark the best record that Hun coach Hawley Waterman has compiled in his six years of coaching at the Princeton school. Waterman, of course, would like nothing better than to see his players make Delharton their seventh victim. Like Tower Hill, which Hun edged 14-12 earlier in the season, a Waterman-coached team has never beaten Delharton.

"Delharton has always been tough," said Waterman, "but this year it should be a good ball game and not the usual rout for them. For the first time, we'll be in their class and the game could go either way."

Supporting Waterman's comments is Delharton's record this year. Although Delharton was a one-point winner over Blair Saturday, coach Bill Regan's eleven has dropped decisions to Peddie, Newark Academy and Admiral Farragut and is rounding out one of its less successful campaigns.

In contrast, Delharton was North Jersey Ivy League champion for five straight years. In three of the five years they faced Hun they were unbeaten. "You can bet we aren't going to regard them lightly," reported Waterman.

Hun had little trouble in registering its sixth victory Saturday at the expense of George School. The visiting Johnny Huns scored two quick touchdowns in the opening quarter and intercepted seven George School passes en route to an easy 28-6 win. It was the losers' fourth defeat in six games.

Owen "Hap" Young set up the Red and Black's first tally in the opening minutes of the game when he returned a George School punt 25 yards to the home team 15. On the next play, star halfback Gary Grover took a pitchout from his quarterback, Tim Walsh, and circled end for Hun's first six points. The PAT attempt failed.

The losers did little to help their own cause by fumbling the following kickoff on their own 20. From there, Grover went off tackle for 13 yards and then passed to freshman end Lonnie Kaplan in the end zone for the TD. Walsh hit Grover with a two-point conversion pass to raise the score to 14-0.

Hun registered its third six-pointer on the heels of a pass interception by co-captain Paul Savidge who returned it to the George School four-yard stripe. Walsh carried it over after faking a pass and then threw to Bob Kay for the PAT.

Another pass theft, this one by co-captain Paul Savidge, who also had a 98-yard pass interception scoring run called back because of a penalty, set up Hun's fourth and final tally soon after the start of the second half. A Grover to Leigh McMakin pass was good for 18 yards to the two-yard line from where Walsh plunged across.

The Hun subs took over at this point. All 34 players who were dressed for the game saw action.

"When they saw they couldn't run against us," said Waterman, "they took to the air and we were able to pick off their passes all afternoon. Also, our line played an excellent game," he added. "They opened such gaping holes that our backs couldn't help but run well."

LARRIES BEAT HILL In Season Finale. Lawrenceville's football team scored 29 points in the second half Saturday to defeat arch-rival Hill School, 37-20. The victory gave the Larries a 5-1-1 record in their first season under Coach John Reydel.

Halfback Buzzy Hannum ran for three touchdowns and passed for a fourth to lead the Red and Black attack. Fullback Brian Breuel plunged over from the one-foot line as the second half opened to erase a 12-8 Hill lead and put Lawrenceville ahead to stay.

Hannum blasted into the Hill end zone from the four-yard line midway through the first period. The big senior from Unionville, Pa., ran for a two-point conversion and Lawrenceville led, 8-0. Hill quarterback Gerald Galloway passed for two second-period touchdowns to give Hill a 12-8 lead at the half.

Late in the third period Hannum scored his second touchdown on a 30-yard end sweep. John Bacon booted the extra point and Lawrenceville led, 22-12. Early in the fourth quarter Hannum flipped a five-yard pass to his brother, John, in the Hill end zone. John booted the placement and Lawrenceville led, 29-12.

Buzzy went 17 yards off a double reverse to score his third touchdown of the day midway through the final period. Bill Riley threw to Walt Stockman for a two-point conversion to give the Red and Black a 37-12 lead. On the last play of the game, Galloway threw his third touchdown pass, a 12-yarder, and then passed for a two-point conversion to cut Lawrenceville's victory margin to 37-20.

The victory was the 30th for Lawrenceville over Hill in a series which began in 1887. Hill has won 15 times and there have been ten ties. The loss gave Hill a 5-2 season record.

IT'S A GOAL, MAW!

Mothers Play Hockey. A field hockey team known as the "Tired Mothers" went down to defeat Sunday in Marquand Park before a determined Miss Fine's School varsity. The score: 3-1, in two 15-minute halves. A return match will be played next Tuesday after school.

The score was tied at 1-1 at the end of the first half. In the second half, the girls made two more goals against the opposition of Mrs. D. L. Corlette as goalie. Mrs. Oakes Ames made the single mothers' goal, and Nancy Davison and Tassie Turkevich scored for the girls.

The self-styled "Tired Mothers" team was composed of Mrs. Ames, Mrs. W. Pepper Constable, Mrs. P. J. Cobb, Mrs. N. B. Woodworth, Mrs. John Claghorn, Mrs. Robert Potter, Mrs. Stanley Smoyer, Mrs. Hallett Johnson, Mrs. Karl Light, Mrs. C. F. Fischer and Mrs. Corlette.

For Miss Fine's: Paula Cook, Tassie Turkevich, Nancy Davison, Sonia Bill, Linda Maxwell, Gretchen Taylor, Anne Updike, Georgianna Godfrey, Mary Elizabeth Keegin, Anne MacNeil, Judith Scassera, Marita Raubitschek and Kitty Walker.

Cook Stars for St. Mark's

Steve Cook of Kingston played a major part in St. Mark's School's 18-14 victory Saturday over its traditional rival, Groton, at Southborough, Mass. With his team trailing, 14-6, as the second half began, Cook sparked touchdown drives of 65 and 51 yards, each time taking the ball into the end zone on runs of three yards.

A fullback, Cook was the leading scorer on his team with six touchdowns this season as it compiled a 3-3-1 record. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter G. Cook, he is reportedly also a hockey player.

KEISER WINS

In Carnegie Sailing. Placing first in two of the three races, Art Keiser won Sunday's program conducted by the Carnegie Sailing Club. He accumulated 21.4 points.

Following were Phil Holt, 19.5; Dick Grace, who took the other first, 15.7; Bob Wilson, 15.4; Dexter Miller, 14.3; Tom Huntington, 10; Bevin Smith, 9; and Fritz Hines, 5.

PENGUINETTES PLAY

In Women's Golf Tourney. Six women came out on top in the first tournament of the winter season held by the Penguinettes of Hopewell Valley Golf Club on Sunday.

Winners were Mrs. Keith Rosser, low gross, (42); Mrs. Marie Hindley, low net (38); Mrs. J. R. Reeder, low putts (15); Mrs. Joseph Mucha, high putts; Mrs. John Sowick, low odd holes (24) and Mrs. Otto Kunza, high even holes. All winners received a new golf ball.

New officers of the club are Mrs. Hindley, president; Mrs. Sowick, vice-president; Mrs. Rosser, secretary; Mrs. William Pritchard, treasurer; Mrs. Walter Palmer, publicity; Mrs. Lee Durling and Mrs. Joseph Donaher, tournament committee; and Mrs. A. J. Zahler, ways and means.

The next tournament will be held December 2. The club has announced that, on regularly scheduled tournament dates when the weather is bad, bowling events will be held instead.

BOWLING NOTES

Crescents on Top. The Crescents swept their three-game series and came from five points behind to take a half-game lead over Tiger Garage (38) in the Industrial League to highlight Princeton bowling action last week. In the "A" League, Princeton Inn (42) opened its margin to two games over Nini Motors and six gamaes over third place Yeoman's. And Sportsmen No. 1 (38) held on to their one-game lead over Edwards in the close "B" circuit, where seven teams are still in contention.

In other league play last week, MAAD and Physics both swept series and pulled into a three-way tie for first place with COB, all with 30 points, in the Faculty loop. Research II jumped into the top spot in the ETS League, edging the Operators (26) by one game and the King Pins (24) by two. A red-hot Kingston team shot a 1002 game and a 2730 series while moving five full games ahead of Belle Mead and Hook and Ladder "H", tied at 34 each, in the Tri-County Fireman's League.

Conover Motors overcame a five-point deficit and moved a half-game ahead of Amron Homes (53) to highlight the Women's League Bowling last week, and Ideal (58) managed to stay on top of the Women's Industrial loop, with a one-game margin over Jefferson Plumbing. Loretta Zinsmeister rolled the top ladies' game with 229 in the Industrial circuit, followed by Lillian Burrough, 202; Ann Amalfitano, 197-180; Rose Zinetti, 197; Betty Frazee, 190; and Gil DeVido, 189. High scores in the Women's League included Loretta Sculerati, 199; Helen Tamasi, 196, and Barbara Danser, 182.

John Donaldson paced the Fireman's circuit with a 246 game, followed by Frank Stofko, 240-200 and a 619 series; Norman Luck, 226, George Kirby and Mike Kopliner, 221 each; Bip Davison, 210; Red Holmes, 209, Barry Davall, 207; Bud Reading, 204, Jack Rhubart, 203; and Joe Salek, 200. Other notable scores included Mike Pinelli, 208; Mike Zeccola, 205; Bud Cavanaugh and Bill Pinelli, 201 each; and Bill Bathie, 200, in the "B" League.

Warning on Shelters

Persons planning to build fallout shelters were warned against unscrupulous salesmen in a statement at Monday's Borough Council meeting by Councilman William H Walker.

Mr Walker said that high-pressure salesmen in various areas are taking advantage of people's fear to sell them unnecessary, expensive equipment. He urged that any Princeton resident contemplating building a shelter get in touch with Capt. Geoffrey E Sage, U S. N (ret.), director of civil defense and disaster for the Borough and Township, before buying any shelter materials or equipment.

Mr Miller will be chairman of the Friday afternoon meeting. He said the conference will consider the following problems how to give a community potable water in an emergency, how to insure conservation of drinking water, how much radioactivity can be removed by water softeners, how to treat polluted water and how water conditioning fits into civil defense programs.

Obituaries

Raymond V. Cortelyou, 65, of 224 Jefferson Road, died November 8 in Princeton Hospital after a lengthy illness. He was executive vice-president and a director of The First National Bank.

Born in Rocky Hill, Mr. Cortelyou had been a resident of Princeton since 1919. A graduate of Princeton High School and Rider College, he served in the United States Navy during World War I.

Mr. Cortelyou had been active in YMCA work and was an elder of the Second Presbyterian Church. He belonged to the American Legion and also held membership in the Masonic Lodge and affiliated groups.

His survivors are his wife, Mrs. Rose Purrington Cortelyou; two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Allen of Rocky Hill and Mrs. Priscilla Little of Frankfort, Germany; four sons, Dr. Thomas P. of Hopewell; Robert V. of Cleveland; Raymond P. of Newark; James V. of Hoboken; and 11 grandchildren.

The Rev. D. William L. Tucker, pastor emeritus of the Second Presbyterian Church, officiated at the funeral, held at the church. Interment was in Rocky Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Lillian M. Knapp of 408 Walnut Lane died November 8 at "Merwick" after a lengthy illness. A Princeton resident for the past six years, she was the widow of J. Harold Knapp.

Born in New York, Mrs. Knapp had lived in Glenn Ridge before coming to Princeton. Her survivors include three sons, J. Merrill, Dean of the College at Princeton University; David of Oakville, Ontario; Ogden of Klamath Falls, Ore.; two sisters, the Misses Lucy and Madeline Clough of Kennebunkport, Me.; and 12 grandchildren.

A memorial service was held in the Princeton University Chapel. Burial was in Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Eleanor E. Orr, 87, died November 9 at her home on the Pennington Road, Hopewell, following a long illness. She was the widow of John W. Orr.

A resident of Belle Mead for many years, Mrs. Orr moved to Hopewell in 1958. She leaves three sons, Harold B. of Hopewell, John W. of Belle Mead; Henry F. of Pennington, and one grandson.

The service was held at a Somerville funeral home, with the Rev. Richard Coffill of the Harlingen Reformed Church officiating. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery, Elizabeth.

Mrs. Grace H. Taylor of 123 Bayard Lane died suddenly November 11 at her home. The widow of Howard M. Taylor, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Joseph W. Miller of Princeton, and Mrs. Marjorie Pound of Lakeville, Conn.; and a son, Howard M. Taylor of Madison.

The private service was held at Trinity Church, Rocky Hill, with the Rev. Robert N. Smyth, rector, officiating. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Adolphus C. Buggs, Jr., 68, of 64 Birch Avenue died suddenly on November 14 at his home. A carpenter, he had lived here for the past 40 years.

Mr. Buggs is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rylander Buggs; five sons, Edward L., Adolphus C., Bernard, Robert R. and Earl J. Buggs; two daughters, Mrs. Mercedes Thompson and Mrs. Geraldine Lockhart.

Arrangements were in charge of the Anderson Funeral Home.

Carl Schmid, 69, of North Main Street, Cranbury, died November 11 in Princeton Hospital. A partner in the painting and decorating firm of Harris and Schmid of Cranbury and Princeton, he was a member of Local 453, Painters and Decorators.

He is survived by a sister, Miss Martha M. Schmid; two nieces and a nephew. The Rev. James N. Armstrong of Christ Presbyterian Church officiated at the funeral, held in Trenton. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Also, Pete Homan, 224; Nick Sculerati, 219; Red Holmes, 210; and Fred Lehnert, 206; in the Industrial loop; Ken Luck, 234-222 and a 621 series; Earl Tindall, 220; and Al Hibbard, 214, in the "A" League; and John Hamarich, 212; Marty Perron, 221; John Holler, 205; and Bob Pressley and Rob Mills, 200 each, in the Faculty League.

TEAMS ARE FORMING In YMCA Basketball. Basketball for men and for senior high school boys, under the auspices of the YMCA, will soon be under way.

For men, informal play will be under the direction of Richard Hoisington and will include practice exercise and pick-up games. This program will meet at the Witherspoon Gym from 8 to 10. League play will consist of participation of a "Y" team in the Y.M.C.A. and Industrial Basketball League now forming.

Owen Desmond III is organizing the Y team league entry which will meet Tuesday evenings at the Princeton High School Gym. Men interested in either program should register with Walter Sorg at the Y office.

Applications for the senior high school boys basketball league are available at the Y office now. The four-team league will begin competition December 1 at 7:30 at the PHS gym. The only requirement to play in the League is Y membership, but applications must be turned in by Friday.
